Skills drill policy revised

Passes to be given to providers completing skill stations after being drawn in the lottery

In November 2007, the Medical Control Review Committee moved to revise skills drill guidelines to award passes to providers that are required to complete a skill evaluation station. The pass can be used in the same calendar year to exempt the provider from taking another skill evaluation station if they are drawn by the lottery again. The skills drill policy has been revised to include guidelines for the issuance and usage of passes. The new guidelines will be effective at the February 2008 skills drills.
